UNIVERSITY HOUSING
UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN-MADISON

Dear Eighth Floor Residents!

Hello! Welcome to Scott House, your future home! My name is Natasha Dockter and I will be your House Fellow next year. As your House Fellow, I will help you move in, get acquainted with UW-Madison and help answer any questions you may have. I am a junior majoring in history. I grew up from Saint Paul, Minnesota. I enjoy hanging out with friends, reading, cooking and meeting new people. I also like watching Grey's Anatomy and Sex and the City with friends.

I have sincerely loved my past two years at Madison. For the past two years, I have lived in Slichter Hall (a Lakeshore Dorm). While living in the dorms I have made fantastic friends, participated in various dorm activities, attended a number of Badger Games, chosen a major, and learned a lot! Throughout the next school year, I look forward to getting to know each of you and helping enhance your own experience at UW-Madison!

As a future resident of Chadbourne, you are moving into one of the greatest dorms on campus! First, we have a fantastic location: The Humanities and Business School are located across the street; Memorial Union, College Library, and State Street are only a few minutes walk away. Second, we are lucky to always have great programs and events at Chadbourne. These will include movie nights, outings to plays and concerts, and listening to fascinating speakers. Third, throughout the summer Chadbourne has undergone renovations that will make our residence hall even better. Fourth, Chadbourne has a plethora of great resources located within our own dorm. These include a dining hall, computer lab, advising office, and classrooms! Finally, the fifth great thing about Chadbourne is you! You will have the amazing opportunity to get involved in planning both floor and dorm activities. Involvement in your freshman year is key!! The more involved you become in both dorm activities and university-wide activities the better your experience will be. College is a great time to try something new. You will also begin to make great life long friends and have an amazing time together.

Speaking of our floor, throughout the next year you will be living with lots of unique Madison students. We are all from different states, cities, and countries. Our floor will become a home for you where I want you to feel safe and happy. While you may not get along with everyone at all times, respect is very important. In order to live well together, we will respect each other at all times! Our floor will also not only be a place where you relax, sleep, and hangout with friends but also a place to study and learn. On our floor, we will have a study den to work on homework. There are also several other places throughout Chadbourne that are good for studying. As I mentioned before, we also an advising office located in Chad. In addition, we have an Academic Program Coordinator who will provide different academic support services.

Well, that is all for now. I hope you enjoy your summer. Again, I cannot wait to meet and get to know each of you. I know we will have a fantastic year.

See you soon and On Wisconsin!
