Tutoring Resources On Campus
University Housing - Housing has several tutors available within various residence halls, and other housing locations. For more information, see http://www.housing.wisc.edu/academics/tutoring.php.

GUTS - For more information, see http://guts.studentorg.wisc.edu/.

Wendt Library - Tutoring sponsored by the College of Engineering. For up to date information and a schedule, see http://studentservices.engr.wisc.edu/classes/tutoring/.

Chemistry Learning Center - The CLC offers a supportive learning environment where students meet in small groups. This program does not function on a first-come first-serve basis, but you can visit the website for eligibility criteria. For more information, see http://www.chem.wisc.edu/areas/clc/.

Other Resources

Chemistry Library - This is a good resource for handbooks and workbooks for general chemistry courses. Located in room 2361 of the Chemistry Building. For more information, see http://chemistry.library.wisc.edu.

Chemistry Computer Center - Has computer tutorials to accompany workbooks for general chemistry courses. Located in room 1381 of the Chemistry Building.

Chemistry Career Services - Assists students in finding full and part-time positions, as well as internships. Located in room 2108 of the Chem Building. For more information, see http://www.chem.wisc.edu/content/chemistry-career-services.

Past Exams - Past exams are posted on the chemistry department site for students. To access them, visit http://www.chem.wisc.edu/content/genchem-practice-exams.
GUTS

Computer science tutoring is available through course 368. Drop-in tutoring, as well as small group study, is offered. For more information and current schedules, see http://guts.studentorg.wisc.edu/.

Other Resources

Computer Systems Lab (CSL) Documentation - Provides a wealth of information about the hardware and software available in the Computer Science Building labs, as well as how to use them. For more information, see http://cs.wisc.edu/CSDocs/.
University Housing - University Housing offers economics tutoring to residents living in the halls. It may be available in your dorm, or at a nearby dining hall.

For locations and hours, see http://www.housing.wisc.edu/academics/tutoring.php.

GUTS - Greater University Tutoring Service offers tutoring through both their drop-in program, as well as the Academic Match program. Academic Match pairs students up with study groups and a tutor to work on mastering concepts from the class for two hours each week.

For more information, see http://guts.studentorg.wisc.edu/.

Economics Student Association - ESA offers drop-in tutoring for Econ 101, 102, and 111 to students in 6113 Social Science. Feel free to stop in and bring friends! They also coordinate study groups each semester. Study groups typically exist for Econ 301, 302, 330, and 410.

For more information, see http://esa.rso.wisc.edu/tutors.shtml.

Business Learning Center - Provides small, group academic support for pre-business and business courses which include Econ 101 & 102. Located in 2240 Grainger Hall.

For more information, see http://bus.wisc.edu/blc.
Wendt Library
Sponsored by the College of Engineering. Tutoring is offered several days a week, and for various introductory and intermediate level engineering courses.

For up to date information and a schedule see http://studentservices.engr.wisc.edu/classes/tutoring/.

GUTS
Greater University Tutoring Service has various tutoring services available for engineering students.

For more information, see http://guts.studentorg.wisc.edu/.

Pi Tau Sigma
Pi Tau Sigma is a Mechanical Engineering Honor Society whose tutors are the top junior and senior students in ME. Both math and ME tutoring is available on the fourth floor of Wendt Library throughout the week.

For up to date information and a schedule, see http://studentservices.engr.wisc.edu/classes/tutoring/.
University Housing

University Housing offers Spanish tutoring to residents in both the Southeast and Lakeshore areas. It may be available in your dorm, or at a nearby dining hall.

For locations and hours, see http://www.housing.wisc.edu/academics/tutoring.php.

GUTS

Greater University Tutoring Service offers drop-in, as well as academic match, tutoring services. Languages offered include Spanish, French, Russian, Italian, and Portuguese.

For more information, see http://guts.studentorg.wisc.edu/.
University Housing - Housing has several tutors available within the residence halls, and other housing locations. For more information, see http://www.housing.wisc.edu/academics/tutoring.php.

GUTS - GUTS offers math tutoring through its academic match program, study groups, and also offers drop-in services. For more information, see http://guts.studentorg.wisc.edu/.

Wendt Library - Tutoring sponsored by the College of Engineering. For up to date information and a schedule, see http://studentservices.engr.wisc.edu/classes/tutoring/.

Math Lab - This program has tutors available to help with courses up to Math 240, and can be found in B227 Van Vleck. A referral is needed from your TA for the semester-long program, but not for the review sessions. Either drop in or check the website for schedules and a list of classes tutored at http://www.math.wisc.edu/~mathlab.

Math Tutorial Program - This is a one-to-one tutorial program that meets with the student twice per week. Staff include professional tutors and academic staff in the department who work closely with the instructors. It is free of charge and students usually improve their grade considerably. You need a referral from your TA or instructor to join.

For more information, see http://www.math.wisc.edu/~tprogram/.

Department of Statistics - The Department of Statistics offers free tutoring to students in STATS 224, 301, 324, and 371. They are located in rooms 1586 of the Medical Sciences Center. For more information, see http://www.stat.wisc.edu/forums/news/tutorials.html.

Other Resources

Math Board - Look for other students who are interested in setting up study groups. See the math board outside B207 Van Vleck.

Past Exams - The Math Library maintains a collection of past exams for all 100 and 200 level courses offered by the Math Department. They are sorted by course or professor.

To access them, visit http://math.library.wisc.edu/reserve/.
GUTS - Greater University Tutoring Service offers drop-in, as well as academic match, tutoring services for physics students.

For more information, see http://guts.studentorg.wisc.edu/.

Wendt Library - Sponsored by the College of Engineering. Tutoring is offered several days a week, and for various physics courses.

For up to date information and a schedule, see http://studentservices.engr.wisc.edu/classes/tutoring/.

University Physical Society - University Physical Society, also known as the Physics Club, offers free drop-in tutoring for basic physics courses in room 2328 of Chamberlain Hall. Tutoring is given by undergraduate physics majors.

For more information, see http://ups.physics.wisc.edu/.

Physics Learning Center - This center offers small group study sessions for several of the larger introductory physics courses.

For more information, see http://www.physics.wisc.edu/plc/.
Greater University Tutoring Service offers tutoring through their Academic Match program. This matches students up with study groups and a tutor to work weekly on mastering concepts from the class.

For more information, see http://guts.studentorg.wisc.edu/.
Individual Instruction - Writing Center tutors are highly trained, encouraging readers who can help with writing in all disciplines and at all levels. You can meet with a Writing Center instructor at any stage of your writing process—from brainstorming for an assignment you’ve just received, to structuring your ideas, to polishing your sentences. For an overview of instruction and services, visit http://writing.wisc.edu/Individual/index.html.

Many Campus Locations - The Writing Center’s main location is in 6171 Helen C. White Hall. You can make an appointment there by calling (608)263-1992.

You also can find Writing Center instructors at nine other locations around campus, including in Memorial Library, the Multicultural Student Center, and many residence halls. For a complete list of locations and hours, visit their website at http://writing.wisc.edu/AboutUs/SerPlaces.html. (Note that instruction at the Writing Center’s satellite locations is first-come, first-served, rather than by appointment.)

Online Email Service - Students can send papers (up to five pages at a time) and short writing questions to the Writing Center’s online staff, who will respond within two business days. For more information on email instruction, see http://writing.wisc.edu/Individual/E-Instruct.html.

Online Chat Service - Another option: sign up for a synchronous “live chat” with a Writing Center instructor! For more information on chat instruction, see http://writing.wisc.edu/Individual/Synchronous.html.

Writer’s Handbook - This online resource offers materials about the stages of the writing process, common types of writing assignments, how to improve your grammar and punctuation, and how to improve your writing style, as well as citation instructions for APA, MLA, and CBE formats. It’s available 24/7 as “The Writer’s Handbook” on their website: http://writing.wisc.edu/Handbook/index.html.

Writing Classes - The Writing Center offers free, non-credit classes throughout the semester on many different topics. Each class will give you the chance to pick up valuable writing skills in a supportive, small-group environment. Information and registration can also be found at http://writing.wisc.edu/Classes/index.html.

Last updated: January 2011.
This resource was updated by Brandon Bykowski.
To report changes or request additional copies, visit www.housing.wisc.edu/academics and click “Feedback.”